

Records Roulette: Don't Gamble with Your Practice

Suggested Course Length: Full or Half Day
Suggested Audience: Dentist and Team

To protect the practice and provider from audit, lawsuit and risk of incarceration, patient records must be documented thoroughly to meet the standard of care.

In this interactive workshop designed for the dentist and the entire team, attendees will learn the skills necessary for achieving diagnostic excellence, how coding incorrectly can put both your practice and license at risk, coding for legitimate reimbursement and protecting the practice through proper documentation.

Attendees will gain the understanding and skills required to protect their clinical and financial integrity of the practice and bring peace of mind.

Program Objectives:

- Sharpen communications skills – words matter: say what you mean to say
- Understand aspects of risk management
- Explore how the patient could be better served while protecting the integrity of the practice
- Discover that healthcare fraud does not have to be intentional to be prosecuted
- Learn how proper diagnostics and documentation will help keep you out of court
- Recognize the significance of comprehensive diagnostic information
- Find out which patients are “keepers”, and who’s not
